

Danish Ammo Team Visiting Joliet Arsenal

The second team of ammunition experts representing Atlantic Pact nations visited Joliet Arsenal and the Ordnance Ammunition Center yesterday and today.

The second team consisting of Hans Peter Moller and Orla Jorgensen of Copenhagen, Denmark, represented the Danish government. The first team to make a month's tour of ammunition installations for the purpose of studying methods and techniques in the manufacture of ordnance ammunition arrived from the United Kingdom in January.

The tours which are planned by the Mutual Security Agency, successor to ECA, and the Anglo-American Council on productivity are intended to increase the output of military supplies for Western Europe within the Atlantic Pact group of European nations.